NYAUTARE: This sub-region receives an average of 16–18 rainy pentads. Rainfall is confined to summer and is moderately reliable. The farming is predominantly livestock production, with the natural conditioning factors, should therefore be based on both livestock production and side-line crops. The rainfall is too low and uncertain for cash cropping except during the rainy season. The rainfall is too low and uncertain for cash cropping except during the rainy season. The rainfall is too low and uncertain for cash cropping except during the rainy season. The rainfall is too low and uncertain for cash cropping except during the rainy season.