Overview
IOM Bangladesh Needs and Population Monitoring (NPM) is part of IOM’s global Displacement Tracking Matrix (DTM) programming. DTM is IOM’s information management system to track and monitor displacement and population mobility. It is designed to regularly and systematically capture, process and disseminate information to provide a better understanding of the movements and evolving needs of displaced populations, whether on site or en route.

Context
Following an outbreak of violence in August 2017 in Rakhine State, Myanmar, a new massive influx of Rohingya refugees to Cox’s Bazar, Bangladesh started in late August 2017. Most of the Rohingya refugees settled in Ukhiya and Teknaf Upazilas of Cox’s Bazar, a district bordering Myanmar identified as the main entry area for border crossings. Previous inflows were recorded in October 2016, when approximately 87,000 people crossed into Bangladesh, and other waves were registered during the previous decades. The number of Rohingya refugees, both registered and unregistered, residing in Cox’s Bazar prior to August 2017 is estimated to be around 213,000 individuals.

NPM Site Assessment (SA) Methodology
The NPM Site Assessment (SA) routinely collects information on numbers, locations, movements and multi-sectoral needs of Rohingya refugees in all areas most recently affected by the sudden influx. The NPM SA collects information about the overall Rohingya population, including refugees who arrived before 25 August 2017. Information is collected by a team of up to 110 enumerators through a mixed-methods approach: Field level key informant (KI) interviews using a closed-ended KoBo multi-sectoral questionnaire are conducted.

At the end of each assessment, NPM publicly shares its most updated information on population figures on a variety of online platforms, including the NPM Portal, HDX, Humanitarian Response, and OpenAerialMap.

IOM is committed to the principle that humane and orderly migration benefits migrants and society. As an intergovernmental organization, IOM acts with its partners in the international community to: assist in meeting the operational challenges of migration; advance understanding of migration issues; encourage social and economic development through migration; and uphold the human dignity and well-being of migrants.

Acknowledgements
IOM Bangladesh thanks the U.S. Department of State, Bureau of Population, Refugees and Migration (PRM) for its continued support. IOM Bangladesh also expresses its gratitude to IOM enumerators for their work in collecting the data; their tireless efforts are the groundwork of this report.
