

AN OVERVIEW OF THE HUMANITARIAN RESPONSE PLAN 2016 *

SAHEL

High levels of vulnerability persist in the Sahel. For 2016, 23.5 million people are expected to be food insecure in the region. Of them, at least 6 million people will face severe food insecurity and require urgent life-saving assistance. Acute malnutrition will threaten the lives and development of 5.9 million children under five years of age. Conflicts and insecurity caused 4.5 million people to flee from their homes, a three-fold increase in less than two years. Here is how humanitarian teams plan to support the Sahel's most vulnerable:

3

STRATEGIC OBJECTIVES

- ➔ Track and analyse risk and vulnerability, integrating findings into humanitarian and development programming.
- ➔ Support vulnerable populations to better cope with shocks by responding earlier to warning signals, by reducing post-crisis recovery times and by building capacity of national actors.
- ➔ Deliver coordinated and integrated life-saving assistance to people affected by emergencies.

5 HUMANITARIAN PRIORITIES

FOOD INSECURITY

Recurrent food crises affect millions of people in the Sahel, even in years without major droughts, and erode the resilience of the most vulnerable populations.

MALNUTRITION

Malnutrition remains worrying throughout the Sahel, not only at the peak of the lean season, but also in post-harvest periods, and reaches emergency levels in many regions.

CONFLICTS

Conflicts and insecurity continue to affect the Sahel region, causing death, displacement and destruction of property, health facilities and schools, and exacerbating food insecurity and malnutrition.

EPIDEMICS

Poverty and lack of access to quality health services make communities highly vulnerable to epidemics and disease, with abnormally high fatality rates.

NATURAL DISASTERS

An increasingly erratic climate and recurrent disasters associated with natural hazards such as droughts, floods and animal pests (e.g. locusts) continue to affect populations across the Sahel.
