The Child Protection Area of Responsibility in Syria is comprised of approximately 87 agencies including, UN, INGO, Syrian NGO and government agencies operating in 14 governorates. Members work to prevent and respond to abuse, neglect, exploitation and violence against children through strengthening community-based child protection programming, including psychosocial support, providing specialized child protection services and strengthening the capacity of front line child protection workers and volunteers.

Key Response Figures

- Child Protection & Psychosocial Support Programmes
  - 179,187 children (51% girls and 49% boys) were reached with PSS across 43 Districts in 14 Governorates. Activities include only “sustained” and “structured” child protection and PSS interventions. “Sustained” refers to a) an ongoing program (not one type of event) and b) regular attendance over a specific period of time. “Structured” refers to programs that include a specific curriculum and/or structured sessions.

- Child Protection & Parenting Programmes
  - 22,577 caregivers (75% women and 25% men) across 42 districts in 14 governorates participated in parenting programs that helped them to understand child development and positive discipline, how to prevent and respond to protection risks for children and equip them with coping strategies also through parents support groups.

- Child Protection Awareness Raising Programmes
  - 259,188 individuals were reached across 34 districts in 14 governorates with community events, communication campaigns addressing specific Child Protection issues including Risk Education, prevention of separation, prevention of violence. Child Protection Members should expand awareness activities involving community members and adult population.

- Specialized Child Protection Services (Case Management)
  - 12,783 vulnerable and at risk children (48% girls and 52% boys) were reached across 56 districts in 14 governorates through case management service and therefore identified, assessed, referred to essential services (medical support, interim care, psychosocial support, legal assistance, safety and security, etc.) And supported with a care plan by trained caseworkers. Specialized services need to be expanded across the country.

- Child Protection Training & Capacity Building Initiatives
  - 2,226 individuals (63% woman, 37% men) across 20 districts in 10 governorates were involved in capacity building initiative targeting CP workers, front line service providers and volunteers (e.g. case management, CP Minimum Standards, PSS and Psychological First Aid). Strengthen the capacity of Members to deliver specialized services (child survivors, children with disabilities) remains one of the core focus of CP sector.
